STORMY HEARING ON SUNDAY BALL

Clergy and Women Who Opposed Sunday Baseball Hissed—Heated Arguments by Advocates of Heated Ball—Ordinance Defeated 7 to 6.

Following a public hearing that was marked by heated argument and the hissing of the members of the city clergy and the several women present who had appeared in opposition to the playing of professional baseball on Sundays, the aldermen defeated the proposed ordinance by a vote of 7 to 6, which was the same vote as that of last year.

How They Voted.

Before relating the events of the evening the vote taken on the proposed ordinance submitted by Alderman Lemister of the Fourth ward, which, if adopted would allow professional Sunday baseball in Kingston after 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the first day in the week, is given.

Those Against.

Those who voted against the adoption of the ordinance were: Alderman Roosa, Second ward. Alderman Schick, Third ward. Alderman Leveche, Fifth ward. Alderman Parish, Sixth ward. Alderman Higgins, Tenth ward. Alderman Myers, Eleventh ward. Alderman Martin, Twelfth ward. Seven votes against.

Those in Favor.

The aldermen who voted in favor of Sunday baseball were: Alderman Warren, First ward. Alderman Lemister, Fourth ward. Alderman Kirschner, Seventh ward. Alderman Kullman, Eighth ward. Alderman Machold, Ninth ward. Alderman Purvis, Thirteenth ward. Six votes in favor.

This was the same vote as that of last year when the proposition was defeated by a vote of seven to six. Shortly after seven o'clock the council chamber began to fill by those interested in the question of Sunday baseball, and long before the session got underway the room was jammed, and the audience stretched far out into the corridor, and in the rooms leading off the council chambers. It was even a larger crowd than that at last year's public hearing. Not all those in favor of Sunday baseball were roughnecks, for there were a number of ex-service men present, clean-cut gentlemen, fellows, and several other young men who were also well bred with gentlemanly instincts but that a number were of the intolerant brand of rowdy, was shown early in the evening, when several of the city clergy entered the council chambers and were roundly hissed.

The Clergy Present.

The clergy present were the Rev. A. S. Cole of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, the Rev. F. B. Seeley of the Fair Street Reformed Church, the Rev. W. F. Stowe of the Church of the Comforter, the Rev. P. C. Weyant of Trinity M. E. Church, the Rev. Putnam Cady of the First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. P. N. Chase and the Rev. G. M. Cranston of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. The clergy sat just inside the railing at the meeting, and as they assumed their seats were greeted with hisses. There was a decided difference of opinion over the large audience. Alderman Ralph Mann as he entered the council chamber, for he was greeted with rounds of applause. After glancing over the large audience President Dittus said that undoubtedly there was a large number in favor of in opposition and asked them to give their names to the city clerk.

The Rev. Dr. Seeley said that the Rev. Mr. Cranston, president of the Ministerial Association of the city, would be the only speaker for the churches.

Mrs. Weed said she represented the Federation of Women's Clubs, and would speak in opposition.

Thomas F. Coughlin, a young attorney, said he would speak in favor of the proposed ordinance.

The Rev. Mr. Cranston was the first speaker of the evening. He said that it should be understood that the clergy had not come there to slander anyone, or because it was not thought that the aldermen desired to do their duty, as the association is represented by the fact that the council had always attempted to do right as it saw the right. He said that he wanted to appeal to the wisdom of this Sunday baseball question. He has lived through a period that called for the highest type of manhood, and we should not let down the bars at this time. This nation was founded on the eternal principles of righteousness, and it has developed our greatest statesmen. As ministers of the Gospel we are here to urge you not to sacrifice the great principles on which our country was founded. Every inch of our soil means just one more inch toward ruin and destruction.

He urged the council not to vote out of impulse, but they should vote to protect the interests of these young men. They don't realize that they need to be protected, they live up to when we came in, but we do not hold that against them, but it is up to you aldermen to afford them protection from themselves by not adopting the ordinance that has been proposed.

Federated Clubs Oppose Ordinance.

Mrs. Weed, who said she represented the Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke sternly against the adoption of the Sunday baseball ordinance.

William Speaks in Favor.

Thomas F. Coughlin was greeted with prolonged applause as he arose.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES ON COAL

Interstate Commerce Commission Ready To Grant Order If Given Authority—Railroads Favor Second Reduction.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, April 20.—Coal prices for consumers probably will be reduced through lower freight rates. This was a plan which administration leaders today virtually had decided to put through without delay. The purpose is to lessen the burdensome costs of coal, both anthracite and bituminous, so that industry may be stimulated and to give householders opportunity to store away winter supplies of fuel.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, alarmed at the jam of idle cars on the railroads, is ready to act as soon as congressional authority is given. The necessary authority will come under the provisions of the Frelinghuysen bill authorizing the commission to establish new coal freight rates, with big reductions for a period of months during the spring and summer season.

Officials of the commission for some time have agreed that "seasonal" cuts in the coal freight rates would greatly benefit the industrial situation, and will result in lower costs to consumers generally. But the commission, deciding that its power does not extend so far as to make reductions merely "seasonal" is now awaiting action by congress. Chairman Clark has indicated that he favors this step, and it is understood the commission will order lower freight rates with the passage and signing of the bill now pending.

Rail executives are almost a unit for the coal rate reductions. It is said, on the theory that it will stimulate buying of coal during the ordinarily slack months for winter needs and thus give the roads a chance to utilize the thousands of coal cars now lying idle on side tracks for lack of traffic.

SCHOOL DEBATE SATURDAY NIGHT

Kingston High School debating team having defeated the debating team of Poughkeepsie High, now stands in line to meet the winner of the up-state district, which is Schenectady.

The subject, which is of interest to all Americans, namely, "That the United States should maintain a navy of an effective strength to that of Great Britain," affords much room for discussion both pro and con and it is an assured fact that the local team made up of Arthur Flemming, leader, Edward Conway, James Carroll, and Frederick Schoeder, will have a very convincing affirmative argument, as was seen by those who witnessed the debate with Poughkeepsie a short time ago.

The debate will take place in the local high school auditorium on Saturday evening, April 23, at 8 o'clock. This debate will be well worth attending and the small price of admission that will be charged should offer no obstruction to those interested in the international problems of the day and also of the welfare of the local high school.

Imports of spirits and malt liquors increased by nearly $10,000,000.

TOWN NOT READY TO BUILD ROAD

Large Delegation Urges Board of Supervisors to Take up Sawkill Road This Year, but Committee Finds Town Has Not Conformed to Law.

The special meeting of the board of supervisors was largely attended Tuesday evening, about one hundred men, a majority from the town of Kingston, being present, they being interested in having the board recommend the construction of the Sawkill road in 1921, the board having approved the construction of such highway at a special session in May, 1920. This road is on the list of 47 highways recommended by the special committee on highways which was adopted last night by the board to be constructed under provisions of section 320-a of the highway law, within a period of approximately eight years, it being No. 42. The committee recommended that highways 31, 32 and 33, in the town of Saugerties, a total of 4.7 miles at an expenditure not to exceed $8,000 per mile, be constructed, also highway 44 in the town of Wawarsing, a distance of approximately 10 miles, at an expenditure of not to exceed $8,000 a mile be constructed, and also that highway 41 in the town of Ulster, a distance of two and a half miles, at an expenditure not to exceed $8,000 a mile, be constructed.

Resolutions later were offered by Supervisor Fratscher that there be appropriated out of funds available from the state and county, $27,000 for the Saugerties highway; by Supervisor Young, that $18,000 be appropriated for the Greenfield highway; and by Supervisor Brink, that $15,000 be appropriated for the town of Ulster highway. These resolutions were voted over under the rule.

After Clerk Henry R. DeVitt had read the call for the special meeting, Supervisor Young introduced an act to authorize the town of Wawarsing to issue bonds to the amount of $10,000 for resurfacing town highway from Ellenville to county line. Later in the session the board went into a committee of the whole with Supervisor Fratscher in the chair, and the act read and advanced to third reading.

The special committee on expenditures of highway money submitted its report which was received and filed.

A communication was read from the town board of Rosendale certifying the election of Silas Auchmoody as supervisor to succeed James S. Hasbrouck, deceased.

McArthur Brothers Co. requested the return of $1,200 deposited to compensate Ulster county should any claims for paupers be made while they were doing construction on the New York city water works. This matter was referred to County Attorney John W. Eckert.

The Home Bureau department of the Ulster County Farm Bureau certified a list of 1,300 members with payment of $1,335, which Clerk DeVitt stated he had checked up and found correct. Filed.

The Ulster County Farm Bureau certified a list of 1,500 members with payment of $2 each. Clerk DeVitt stated on checking up the list he found four less than certified. Filed.

A communication from the state commission of highways stated it was necessary to eliminate three bridges over the D. & H. canal, also to widen the highway, which would make necessary a change in plans in the Rosendale highway improvement; also an additional appropriation of $3,000, of which the county must pay $1,050. Later Supervisor Auchmoody offered a resolution that there be appropriated $1,050 for the additional cost, which resolution was voted over under the rule.

A certified copy of resolutions of town board of Wawarsing that improvement of highway from Ellenville, being the Greenfield road, was petitioned for as public interest demanded it, was read and filed.

Similar resolutions were read from town board of Saugerties for improvement to King's highway, all in the town of Saugerties; and from town board of Ulster for improvement of highway from Mar's hotel to King's highway, and filed.

The town board of Wawarsing certified to adoption by the voters of a resolution to borrow $10,000 to pay for resurfacing of highway from Ellenville to town line at Dairyland. Filed.

Supervisor Young offered a resolution that there be appropriated $1,926 and paid to the Ulster County Farm Bureau. Filed.

Supervisor Sacerdotti, that the purchase of equipment for the hospital at the Ulster County Farm, New Paltz, be referred to the committee on superintendent of poor for consideration. Carried.

Supervisor Charlton moved that whereas the board of supervisors had at a special meeting, held May 3, 1920, approved of the construction with state aid of the Sawkill road running through the town of Ulster to Saugerties and Zena and to the New York city boulevard, a distance of 3.5 miles, and whereas the special committee's report does not include from Zena, that said report be referred back to the board and changed as it was approved and originally adopted.

Supervisor Fratscher said the motion was out of order as the report had not been adopted. The map could be modified later.

Supervisor Schumacher said the time to take action was now and not to wait. The improvement of the Sawkill road was necessary.

Judge Jenkins said he represented not only the people of Saugerties but of the city as well. In 1920 the board adopted a resolution for the improvement of the Sawkill road, any-

Judge Cunningham was tendered by the administration an appointment to one of the most important executive legal positions in the gift of the administration. Although the place is important and highly desirable, Judge Cunningham declined it, because it demanded residence in Washington. Since returning home, the offer was renewed, and has been finally declined.

GERMANY ASKED VATICAN TO AID

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Rome, April 20.—In spite of emphatic denials that the Holy See has been requested by Germany to act as her intermediary in the reparations controversy, the International News Service is reliably informed that the Berlin government did ask the intervention of Pope Benedict. The Holy Father, however, refused because he did not wish to give offense to the allies, particularly France, by making himself the spokesman for Germany.

The Vatican's semi-official monthly, the Corriere D'Italia, again denied today that any steps have been taken by the Vatican toward mediation in Germany's behalf.

OLSEN MURDER TRIAL BEGINS

Outline of Case as Presented by District Attorney at Opening of the Trial Shows That Olsen Had Been Drinking Cider.

The trial of Oscar Olsen, charged with the murder of Guy Barringer at the Olsen home in Samsonville on December 30, last, was taken up this morning at 10 o'clock when county court convened. The selection of a jury had been completed Tuesday evening. District Attorney Traver opened the case for the people, briefly stating the facts which will probably be proven during the trial.

It is alleged that Guy Barringer, who resided a short distance from the Olsen home at Samsonville, came to the Olsen home on December 30, 1920, to secure the assistance of John Olsen in fixing up a Ford car which Barringer owned. While at the Olsen home Barringer was shot several times and as a result of the wounds received, later died at the Kemble Sanitarium here, where he was brought by Dr. DuMont.

Several years ago Mr. and Mrs. Olsen purchased a home near the village of Samsonville in the town of Olive and Mrs. Olsen lived there with her two children, John, a young lad of about 15 or 16, and her daughter, Mr. Olsen was employed in Brooklyn coming up to Samsonville at frequent intervals to spend a few days with his family.

Shortly before the Christmas holidays last year he came up home and it is alleged made trips about the country with his family, going out a day or two before the shooting with Guy Barringer, who owned a car. The car broke down and it is alleged that Barringer came to the Olsen home on the day of the shooting to secure the Olsen boy to help fix up the machine. That was about two o'clock in the afternoon. Olsen during the time which he spent at home had been drinking considerable cider which is described as being between sweet and hard. On the day in question he started to partake of the cider along about 11 o'clock in the morning and when Barringer arrived there in the afternoon Mr. Olsen was in the kitchen with a pitcher of cider on the table. Mrs. Olsen was out in the yard hanging up clothes and when Barringer arrived she came into the house.

There evidently was some talk about the car and Olsen went to the cellar to replenish the cider. There was a conversation about going to visit one of the neighbors but this suggestion was not acted upon.

Mrs. Olsen left the kitchen where the two men were and went to her bedroom, which was also on the first floor of the house, to dress. It is alleged that after she departed Barringer also left the house and was gone for a few minutes. When he returned he found Olsen in the kitchen with a revolver. As Barringer entered shots were fired and Barringer received several bullets in his body.

An attempt will be made to show that Barringer after he was shot ran through the kitchen to the dining room and toward the bedroom door of Mrs. Olsen, where he fell to the floor. Mrs. Olsen opened the door and picked him up and assisted him toward or into the bedroom, where she bound up the wounds and he was taken home.

The wounds which Mrs. Olsen bound up with a pillow slip were the wounds in the arm.

Dr. Dumond was called and made an examination of the injuries. He found that not only had Barringer been shot in the arm but the most serious wounds were in the abdomen. After administering a hypodermic to prevent further hemorrhages he had Barringer removed to the Kemble Sanitarium, where an operation was performed to try and save the injured man's life.

Barringer lived all the next day but died on the night of December 31, or the early morning of January 1.

James F. Loughran was the first witness called. He identified and explained a map of the Olsen house and premises which he had made on January 4, this year. He located the various pieces of furniture in the rooms at the Olsen house and located several spots on the floor where blood stains had been. He found a bullet hole in the wall of the kitchen on the right hand side of the room about 3 feet 11 inches from the floor. There were also blood stains on the wall of the bedroom where Mrs. Olsen had gone.

Dr. Dumond, who attended Barringer about 9 o'clock of the evening of the day when the shooting took place, testified that he found Barringer on a cot in the kitchen suffering from gunshot wounds. He treated him and brought him to Kingston where an operation was later performed.

He found a bullet wound in the left side between the 9th and 10th ribs; two bullet holes in the right side, one a point of entry and another a point of exit, and also a wound on the wrist.

On cross examination by Mr. Merritt Dr. Dumond said there was a point of entry on the left side of the body, but he did not recall seeing a point of exit on the right side of the body. There was a point of entry on the right hand side of the body but there was no point of exit of this bullet.

Dr. Van Hoosenberg, who with Dr. Merritt performed the autopsy after the death of Mr. Barringer, was next called and testified to the wounds which he had found on the body.

Dr. Van Hoosenberg was positive that there was no point of entry of a bullet on the right side of the body. One of the bullets which entered the abdomen on the left had pierced the stomach and liver and it soon.

$8,000 VERDICT IN BOYD CASE UPHELD BY COURT OF APPEALS

Damages Awarded in 1918 for Death of Policeman Who Was Killed When West Shore Train Struck a Trolley Car—Court of Appeals Unanimously Affirms Judgment of Trial Court.

Among the decisions of the Court of Appeals Tuesday was one of great local interest in the action of Isabelle Boyd, an administratrix of the estate of John G. Boyd, against the New York Central Railroad, the court sustained and affirmed the judgment of the lower courts. This decision of the highest court finally decides the action favorably to Mrs. Boyd.

This case was tried in the supreme court here in December 1918, the trial lasting over a week. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of Mrs. Boyd and against the Railroad Company for the sum of $8,000. The company appealed to the Appellate Division which affirmed the judgment by a divided court. The company then appealed to the Court of Appeals which has now unanimously affirmed it.

It will be remembered that John G. Boyd was a policeman and was on the trolley car which had a collision with the 6:32 paper train on the morning of March 4, 1918. He was standing upon the platform and received injuries from the collision from which he died a few days later. There were two others who lost their lives and upwards of a dozen others who were injured.

The West Shore Railroad Company claimed that the trolley car was operated through the park. The trolley company contended that the gates were put down on the trolley car. The action was keenly contested on both sides and various questions of law were raised. Mayor Canfield represented Mrs. Boyd throughout the proceedings and Amos Van Etten the railroad company.

Fire in White Tile Lunch.

Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock a blazing pan of grease in the White Tile Lunch on Railroad avenue caused an alarm to be turned in from Box 61. There was no damage.

was from hemorrhages that Barringer died.

There were two wounds on the left side. One in the abdomen and another near the left shoulder. Near the right arm pit was a point of exit of one of the bullets which had entered the body on the opposite side.

On cross examination Dr. Van Hoosenberg said that he could not tell if there had been three shots fired. He was sure the wounds were on the left side and that Dr. Dumond was mistaken when he said there was a wound on the right where a bullet had entered.

Dr. Daniel Connelly, who made the examination with Dr. Van Hoosenberg, testified to practically the same wounds as Dr. Van Hoosenberg. He was sure there were no wounds on the right side of the body.

Being examined by Mr. Merritt as to how a man of Olsen's height could fire a bullet through the shoulder of a man as tall as Barringer was, and have the bullet take a downward course, Mr. Connelly said that the shot might have been the second one fired after Barringer had stooped or fallen following the first shot.

Edna Brohier, an employee at the Kemble Sanitarium, who witnessed the statement made by Guy Barringer prior to his death, to Dr. Van Hoosenberg, of the district attorney's office, was called. She heard Barringer say he was coming to die and had witnessed the statement but could not recall very much of what had been said between the wounded man and Mr. Connelly. She heard Barringer say he had come to the Olsen house to have a wagon or car repaired but she could not recall what else had been said.

Mrs. Rose Parkes, also employed at the Kemble Sanitarium, was called. She witnessed the signature of Barringer to the statement but could not remember what was in the statement or what Barringer had said except that when the statement was read over by Mr. Connelly, Barringer had said that it was correct.

The case was continued this afternoon at 10 o'clock.

PARKER HALL WON FOR PRINCETON

The intercollegiate indoor polo championship which has been won by the Princeton team has attracted a great amount of interest and attention in this class of college sport. It is a type of game that brings out the clear-headed skill of those who participate in it as well as the sweat out of both rider and pony. Alton Parker Hall, one of the Princeton team, son of the Rev. Charles Mercer Hall, formerly of the Holy Cross Church in this city, and a grandson of Judge Alton B. Parker, practically won for his team the contest over Yale. The report says that Princeton's star was Parker Hall at No. 2 position. He registered half of his team's goals, scoring three in the first half period, and a similar number in the second period.

Men out of work are turning to the automobiles in many instances and becoming licensed chauffeurs in order to tide themselves over until such time as business picks up.

Secretary Lyons announces a chauffeur's examination for Kingston on April 23 at 12 o'clock, all applicants to meet at the city hall.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXXVI.—NEVADA

NEVADA is a Spanish

adjective

meaning

"snowy," and is taken from the Sierra

Nevada, a range of mountains which separate the

State from California.

Most of the history of the state

centers in this Western section, near the Sierras, and it is here that all of Nevada's precious are located.

The first white man to the present state was the Spanish Monk, Father Garcia, who made his way across the desert to California in 1775. In 1822

Peter S. Ogden of the Hudson's

Bay company discovered the Humboldt river, which is sometimes called Ogden river after him.

The next memorable event in the state was that of Fremont in 1843, when he went to California at the time of the outbreak of the Mexican war.

It was this war which in 1848 resulted in Mexico ceding a large area to the United States, of which Nevada was a part. When this was organized into territories, the Territory of Utah extended to California. The Western inhabitants, however, were left to their own resources and accordingly organized their own government. Resenting the attitude of Utah they petitioned to be annexed to California.

In 1850 the Comstock Lode

was discovered and Nevada had its own mining boom. Population immediately grew by leaps and bounds and in 1861 Nevada was formed into a separate territory. Later, portions of Utah were added and the lower part of the state was taken from Ariz-

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 20, 1921.

Some of the legislators are now wondering whether they want to make another run. Some of them undoubtedly will and others will feel that they have had their share of law making. The increased compensation, or possibility of it, may regulate the thoughts of some.

Notwithstanding all that may be said to the contrary, there is a well defined belief that we are getting our feet on the ground again and that before long we will be moving along as if nothing had ever happened to disturb us for a minute. The Golden Rule has not been entirely forgotten and the old adage, "Live and let live," is yet voiced now and then. These are fixed principles. The people the whole people, as willing to compromise when the time comes and there is no doubt that adjustment is within sight.

NOVEL PUNISHMENT

An amusing story is told of the punishment meted out to a Sinn Feiner who violently interrupted a speaker, a lady, at the All-American mass meeting in Philadelphia. Instead of being put out of the hall he was held down in his place and compelled to listen to some straight "all-American" remarks, punctuated with quotations from some of our leading statesmen on the subject of Sinn Feiners and other foreign-sympathy citizens who wilfully disturb the country of their adoption because they are "agin" England or for Germany, as the case may be, and place the interests of the "old country" above those of the United States. The Sinn Feiner squirmed, but his ears were open and his legs were not free, and so he had to endure the torture he had brought upon himself, even though he doubtless thought it more than he could bear.

This form of punishment for the foreign-sympathy agitator has its merits and with advantage might be more widely applied. How about rounding up some of those Bolshevik "reformers" who scheme to destroy the government of this country and compel them to listen to the Constitution of the United States is read? Doubtless they would appeal to the provision of the Constitution itself against "cruel and unusual punishments," but such a forced recognition of the document they wish to destroy, and above all the misery inducing them to do so, might be wholesome in results. There is a disposition to flee from mental torture as well as from physical, and though the punishment described above might not equal the Delaware whipping post as a corrective, it would undoubtedly be serviceable.

"SHOWS" IN THE COLOSSEUM.

The leasing of the Colosseum in Rome to a theatrical corporation has been objected to as a "desecration," but even movies featuring "sex stuff" could hardly be said to degrade a structure in which the Romans entertained themselves by watching such spectacles as the fighting of gladiators to the death and the casting of Christian martyrs to the lions. The only real objection is the practical difficulty of utilizing an auditorium so vast. The Colosseum has a seating capacity of 45,000 and standing room for 5,000 more, as compared with the great Madison Square Garden in New York, which can seat only 18,232, and the City College stadium with a capacity of 17,000. Polo grounds and race courses are of course, in another class, for the spectacles therein can be followed from a greater distance than can a theatrical performance.

There is a wide impression that the Colosseum is a ruin, but it would appear that the great structure remains to a large extent intact, in spite of the passage of centuries and the shock of recorded earthquakes. It was opened by the Emperor Titus in the year 80. The gladiatorial combats were suspended in 529 and the spectacles in which wild beasts figured came to an end in the sixth century. The reconstruction of the structure, vast and long extending, was for the purpose of popular amusement, after an interval of some fourteen centuries, is a notable event. What over the quality or character of the modern theatrical spectacles in the Colosseum, they will be more innocent and less harmful than the ancient.

GEORGIA'S RESPONSIBILITY.

The Williams plantation in Georgia is in Jasper county, but those of the eleven murdered negroes who were drowned met their death in the adjoining county of Newton. This is worthy of note because it is associated with the one bright feature in the dark tale of horror—the fact that Newton and Jasper counties contended for the credit of putting the defendants on trial first. The two counties did well to contend for the right to perform this solemn duty to the dead and to society. And all Georgia may well demand with one voice and see to it that full justice is meted out to John S. Williams, the convicted planter, and his wife, Mrs. Manning. "All true Georgians deplore the awful tragedy," Governor Dorsey is quoted, but Georgians must do more than deplore if they would wash such a stain from the name of their state.

The south regrets the charge that the negroes in general are abused, but how can the south wonder at a lingering belief in this charge among outsiders when there is a possibility of such revolting crimes as were perpetrated on the Williams plantation? The negroes in general are not abused, as leading negroes themselves have attested, but this Williams atrocity is a sign of unhealthy conditions on lonely plantations, where, according to report, negro laborers are sometimes forcibly prevented from "jumping their contract" to serve for a given period, or are held to work out a debt. The system of negro employment on plantations needs to be looked into. The state governments themselves would be wise to act without delay, for if they do not the Federal government will. A Federal investigation following the Williams plantation scandal is more than probable.

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

What do you want to know about nature subjects? Send any question of general interest to the Nature Notes Dept. of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. What sort of a creature is older, in the world's history, cold-blooded or warm-blooded animals?
2. Does a skunk bark?
3. What does the English sparrow's food consist of?

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Can baby alligators be raised as pets?

Almost never under ordinary home conditions. In a proper reptile house in a zoological park, alligators have been hatched from eggs and reared to maturity, growing to 5 feet in as many years. Their home resembles a hot-house with huge swimming tanks of tepid water. Under such conditions they feed greedily and grow well.

2. How do birds' wings differ in style?

We shall find a conformity in the type of wings to the type of life. Birds that live and feed on the ground generally have short wings, and fly with rapid strokes, going short distances. Those that spend much time aloft have wings long in proportion to their body, as the albatross which can keep aloft for hours without alighting. Some birds, like the little auklet and the loon, that live mostly in the water, have a flipper type of wing, equally useful in the water as in the air.

3. What do bears eat in winter?

Bears do not hibernate in winter and do not eat during the long weeks of suspended action. They prepare for this winter nap by storing fat and punishment in their own bodies, just as woodchucks do. Bears eat quantities of sweet fruit in late summer, honey, acorns, etc., all fattening food that keeps them comfortable in their hollow-tree home.

PLATTERHILL

Platterhill, April 19.—A welcome reception will be given to the Rev. H. A. Seaman and wife, by the members of their congregation and friends at the Platterhill M. E. Church Wednesday evening, April 20. Recitations and solos will be part of the entertainment arranged and an enjoyable evening is looked forward to. All are welcome.

Henry H. Seaman, father of the Rev. H. A. Seaman died at his home, 12 Grand street, Poughkeepsie, after a short illness. Funeral services were held at his home Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Seaman was one of the best known men in Poughkeepsie. He has resided there thirty years.

Mrs. Renwick Harris has returned home and her many friends are glad to welcome her in the village.

Mrs. Haven has sold her farm to George Harris of Newburgh. We are glad to welcome Mrs. Haven as a resident in our community.

April 20th a birthday surprise party was given to Edward Seaman in honor of his sixteenth birthday. Twenty-eight of the young people were present. A beautiful supper and an enjoyable evening ensued.

The season will take for this topic April 24, "The Blue Lagoon."

PUBLIC UTILITIES NEED $700,000,000

That approximately $700,000,000 is required by the public utility companies of the country to provide service for an additional million inhabitants, is one of the interesting facts brought forth in the recently published report of Senator William M. Calder's committee on reconstruction and production.

After a searching inquiry into the various conditions bearing upon the housing situation and the country's industrial production, the committee finds that the business of public utilities has outgrown their plant facilities owing to the inability of the companies to finance improvements and additions necessary to take care of increased service demands.

"Prior to the war," states the committee, "it is estimated that the normal annual requirements of electric railway, gas and electric light and power companies for extensions, betterments and improvements was about $500,000,000, proportioned as follows: Electric railways, $250,000,000; gas companies, $125,000,000; electric light and power companies, $125,000,000.

The committee has been informed that for four years not over 40 per cent of such betterments has been made, leaving an accumulation of about $1,200,000,000. If to this sum is added the $700,000,000 required alone for service to new residential buildings held in abeyance, a total of approximately $2,000,000,000 seems necessary for the public utility program in the immediate future.

"The question of placing these businesses on a sound financial basis in order that credit may flow to them is the same question which confronts steam railroads and housing, but in the case of public utilities the situation is more difficult because there is no central body as now provided in the case of the steam railroads which might adjust rates in proper relation to operating costs and capital investment. The utilities likewise suffer in their effort to secure new capital for necessary extensions of service by the almost insurmountable difficulty of having to compete for such capital with municipal, state and similar tax-exempt securities. Until these problems are solved the public should recognize this underlying reason for much of the faulty service and for the failure to provide the additional facilities urgently demanded to meet community needs."

STELLAR QUARTET FRIDAY EVENING

The Stellar Quartet will give a concert in the high school auditorium on Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

This quartet of men has become famous by their singing for the phonograph people, making records for the Edison, Victor and Columbia companies.

The Kingston High School Athletic Association is backing the enterprise and has as a chief motive the idea of showing the people of Kingston and nearby vicinity, that they appreciate music as well as an athletic contest. The money that is realized from this concert will be used for the purchase of equipment for the athletic teams of the high school.

The money which has to be paid to the quartet has already been secured and the ticket sale has been good, but there are still tickets enough to supply any demand.

The tickets may be exchanged any afternoon now at the "Y. M. C. A." for reserved seats. There are several good seats available, so if there is anyone who has not been given the opportunity to purchase a ticket they may do so at the "Y." where they will be exchanged immediately for a reserved seat. Mail orders for tickets should be sent to Prof. C. W. Lewis at the high school not later than Friday morning.

There has been a slight change in the program by reason of a request from a number of the music lovers of Kingston. The fourth number on the program, a solo, "Negro Spirit," by Reed Miller, has been changed to "If With All Your Heart," from Elijah. This is the song that this group of musicians asked that Mr. Miller sing and he has gladly consented to the change.

What Careful Seed Tests
Show

CAREFUL seed tests at Government Experiment Stations have proved over and over again that good drills—planting the correct amount of seed at the proper depth—add from 4 to 10 bushels to the yield per acre, over broadcasting and poor drilling.

Investigations wherever good farming is practiced will show Empire Jr. Grain Drills in the forefront in correct construction and in popularity.

A drill that is backed by a history of uninterrupted success is a pretty dependable implement. To plant the seed just deep enough and yet not too deep, and cover it evenly and compactly is forward-looking business sense.

The famous Empire double-run feed is the most positive feed ever placed on a grain drill. This is only one of a number of fine features that will interest you. We will welcome an opportunity to go over them, one by one, with you, showing you just how their construction serves to do such exceptional work. Our service is also a source of pride with us and we want to explain how it is ready for your every emergency.

Tagging All the Bases.

Phil Douglas was in rare form and held the Braves to six hits, while Burns, Frisch and Walker of the Giants made hits count.

Smith's home run with Speaker on base ahead of him was the biggest single punch in the slashing victory of the Indians over Detroit.

Rube Marquard was touched up for 12 hits by the Cardinals while Jake May held the Reds safe.

An error by Severid, of the Browns, saved the White Sox from a shut out at the hands of Sothoron.

Home runs by Williams and Muesel, of the Phillies, routed the champion Brooklyn Robins.

George Burns's sliding was a feature of the Giants' victory over the Braves. Burns nabbed nine flies in left field.

An avalanche of hits, topped by a home run by Carey, smothered the Cubs.
Hamilton's fine pitching helped the Pirates to a victory.

Sam Rice got a homer, two doubles and a single in assisting his Washington team mates to down the Athletics in the sea of despair.

ABER WILL RUN ELLENVILLE BUS

Walden Man Granted Permission to Operate Bus Line—April 27 a Public Meeting on City Zoning Will Be Held.

Daniel G. Aber of Walden, was granted permission to operate a bus line between Ellenville and Kingston, at a meeting of the common council held on Tuesday evening at the city hall. The motor bus committee reported favorably on Mr. Aber's application but before the report was accepted the aldermen heard Chris J. Flanagan, attorney for Van Kleeck Brothers, who for the past two months have been operating a bus line between Ellenville and Kingston.

Mr. Flanagan said that his clients had invested $3,000 in a bus, and had ordered another to be used on the route, and that they should be protected. There had been several attempts to operate a bus line before but they had never paid.

W. H. Grogan, attorney for Mr. Aber, said that a survey had been made, and he felt warranted in saying that there was business enough for another bus line.

The report of the motor bus committee was adopted, and Mr. Aber given permission to operate.

Alderman Schick of the zoning committee, reported that an informal meeting had been held earlier that evening with Mayor Canfield, and members of the Chamber of Commerce, and that Mr. Flanagan of Rochester, N. Y., would be in Kingston on April 27, to address a public meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. on the zoning question.

The council then took up the baseball hearing, which will be found elsewhere.

to speak. He said that he was there representing no church or no organization but to express his opinion as a young citizen of the city. He said he was unable to see where the playing of Sunday baseball was going to in any way affect his allegiance to his country. The issue, he said, was purely a local one. Kingston was the only town in the Hudson river valley that did not have Sunday baseball. Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Saugerties had it, and he was not aware that Kingston was any nearer heaven because it did not have it also.

The issue is raised that Sunday is a day of rest. To a young man this does not mean that he should sit down in the house. It means recreation. "I assume that every young man here attends some service on Sunday. I have been taught and I believe that after I have attended my church in the morning that there is no harm in seeking recreation in the afternoon. There can be no harm in playing baseball on Sunday."

He said that the most of men in the army during the world war played baseball on Sunday when they got the chance, and in closing he urged the audience to vote in favor of the ordinance as it took the young men out into the open air on a Sunday.

Petitions Against Sunday Ball.
City Clerk Doremus then read a number of petitions that had been filed opposing Sunday baseball. They were:

The official boards of the St. James M. E. Church, The Reformed Church of the Comforter and Third ward, signed by 197 members.

The consistory of the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, The Bible class of the Fair Street Reformed Church and the men's class of the Church of the Comforter, 108 men.

The Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor, representing about twenty C. E. societies.

The Clinton Avenue M. E. Church.

Petition in Favor.
There was also six petitions from the Sixth ward favoring baseball but they had been handed the city clerk so late that evening that he had been unable to give the number of names signed as they were not counted.

More Speakers Appear.
The proposed ordinance which had been offered by Alderman Lemist and seconded by Alderman Macholdt, was then read, but before a vote was taken on the question of its adoption or rejection, President Dittus asked if there were any more to be heard before he declared the hearing closed.

Murray Hears a Rumor.
Joseph R. Murray was the first to accept the president's invitation, and said that one of the great principles that had seemed to be overlooked by the speakers was that of the pursuit of liberty and happiness. There was no question as to deny the right of having Sunday ball they might just as well deny the right for Sunday golf, automobile riding or trout fishing. He said he believed that the majority of the people of the city are being wagged by a very well organized tail. He said in closing that bets were being made on the street that even if the ordinance was adopted by the council the mayor would not sign it. He said he hoped not.

Women Speakers Hissed.
The next speaker was a woman who said she represented the Parent-Teachers Association of School 6, representing 510 homes. She did not give her name. She spoke strongly against the adoption of the ordinance, and was roundly hissed by the hoodlums present. The same treatment was accorded another woman, who also did not give her name, but who spoke against the adoption of the ordinance.

Who is Watching Mr. Mann?
Evidently Harry H. Flemming and some others had been having a little quiet fun with Ex-Alderman Ralph Mann, for as the women sat down, the former alderman jumped to his feet, and said that Mr. Harry Flemming had informed him that he—Mann—was being watched, but as far as he was concerned he asked that everybody watch him. He said that he had been informed that at Keeney's theatre concerts had been given on Sunday and admissions collected if that was not commercializing Sunday, what was. Then the city itself was commercializing Sunday for it permits all of the concessions at Kingston Point Park to run all day Sunday the same as other days in the week. He said it would be too bad, however, to stop it as a lot of women could only get to the park with their children on Sunday.

"I am glad to have anybody watch me who wants to," said Mr. Mann. "I have never had any trouble with the the clergy present, and I have never been arrested. During the world war I tried to use our boys right, and I believe that they should be given recreation. It would seem funny to you for me, a Jew, to speak in favor of baseball on your Sunday, but I think that young men of today are entitled to some recreation."

Attorney F. C. Merritt of the Kingston Taxpayers' Association, was the next speaker. He said, "When it goes to the point that young men his ladies who speak against Sunday baseball then it is time to put a kibosh on it." He said that he had not expected to speak that evening but the action of the young men had disappointed him; that while he did not disapprove of Sunday baseball he did disapprove of commercializing it. Professional ball meant putting something in somebody's pocket. "A young man has said here tonight that Poughkeepsie has Sunday baseball, but if Poughkeepsie waits to go to hell, why should we? You young men who most favor Sunday baseball ten years from today will remember my words. If this common council gives you permission to raise the devil on Sunday in ten years some of you will be looking through the bars of some prison."

"Shooting Crap on Side Lines."
Mr. Merritt assured his hearers that he was no angel himself, but the actions of the young men that night in hissing women showed plainly the sort of element that favored Sunday baseball. If the aldermen had favored Sunday baseball the actions of those in favor of it should be enough to warrant them voting against it. These young hisses when the games are being played will be found on the sidelines shooting crap.

Mann Demanded Apology.
Ralph Mann jumped to his feet as Mr. Merritt sat down and said that Mr. Merritt should be ashamed of himself accusing ex-service men of the desire to shoot crap at a Sunday baseball game. The thought was dreadful and Mr. Mann demanded that Mr. Merritt deliver an open apology. Just because a boy hissed did not say he would shoot crap.

Apologizes to No One.
"I apologize to no one," retorted Mr. Merritt. He was hissed by some of the baseball adherents, but said that he knew that for several days or weeks he had said and done, but that ten years from now those same young men would be glad that he had opposed Sunday professional baseball.

"Won't Get Them Anything."
At various intervals throughout the hearing President Dittus was forced to use his gavel and he repeatedly warned the disturbers that their actions would not "get them anything," but they failed to heed the warning, and insisted on hissing any one who did not agree with them.

McLille Says His Say.
"I am speaking for the Central Athletic Club of sixty-five young men in the Third ward," announced a young man who gave his name as McLille. He said that he had not come there to throw a lot of wind, but if the question was put to a vote of the city it would go through. "We are not here to hear about Jesus Christ," said he warming up, "but we are here Sunday baseball. Kingston is the most immoral city in the county. I ought to know I am a resident." He said that Sunday baseball was not going to make the city any more immoral, and in closing reminded Alderman Schick of the Third ward that sixty-five men of his ward wanted Sunday baseball.

Hearing Closed.
There being no others desiring to be heard President Dittus declared the hearing closed.

Mayor Canfield, who sat on the rostrum, beside President Dittus, said that he wanted to reply to Mr. Murray's statement, which had shown an immaturity of judgment. He said that he had never informed any one on any question of what action he intended taking before the council had acted upon it. Personally he did not care, but he believed that the office of mayor should be held in respect and for that reason such a statement as made by Mr. Murray cast reflections on the office.

Mr. Murray at this point attempted to interrupt, but the mayor told him to wait until he had finished, and then he would be heard. The mayor said that on all questions he sought to be fair and just, and that was one reason why he had attended the hearing as he had wanted to hear both sides, and that when he came to pass upon any question he had always endeavored to decide justly and rightly as he saw it.

Mr. Murray was then given the privilege of the floor again, and said that he did not want to be misunderstood. When he had said that he had heard that the mayor would veto the ordinance if it was adopted by the council he had said that it was merely street rumor. He said that he did not care to be classed with the element who had shown no discretion that evening in hissing women and clergy. In closing he said if he had offended his honor the mayor be apologized.

Mayor Canfield said it was not a question of offending him, but that the office of mayor should be held in respect. He said he did not take personal offense at Mr. Mur-

JURY FOR OLSEN MURDER TRIAL

Tuesday afternoon in county court District Attorney Traver moved the trial of the case of the People against Oscar Olsen, charged with murder, second degree, in the shooting of Guy Barringer at Samsonville, in the town of Olive, last winter. It is alleged that Olsen at the time of the shooting had been partaking of considerable hard beer. Barringer was brought to this city after the shooting and taken to the Remble Sanitarium on Clinton avenue where he died from the effects of the wounds received.

Considering the serious nature of the charge, the jury to hear the case was selected in record time. When court convened at 2 o'clock the work of selecting a jury was begun, and when court recessed at 5:30 o'clock the twelve men had been chosen. Thirty-five jurors were examined before twelve men had finally been selected.

The twelve men who will hear the evidence and decide as to Olsen's innocence or guilt are:

Michael Schupp, Kingston, employed on the railroad.
Hiram Graham, town of Hardenburgh, farmer.

Burdette Green, Kingston, cabinet maker.
John McLaughlin, Marlborough, fruit grower.

James Riley, Woodstock, mason.
James E. Hoos, Tilton, retired.
Ezra Gosso, Big Indian, farmer.
Alexander Rittenburg, Woodstock, farmer.

Andrew Dubois, Chichester, machine hand in factory.
Jacob Carlson, Dairyland, farmer.
David J. Wells, Ulster Park, laborer.

Edgar Goodwin, Saugerties.
Throughout the examination of the jurors Olsen appeared to be calm and took little interest in the selection, always appearing to be satisfied with selection when consulted by his attorney, Francis C. Merritt.

The following jurors were examined and excused from the case:
Harry Dederick, city; excused by the People.
George Long, Zena, challenged for cause by defendant.

Frank Atkins, Wawarsing; excused by the People.
ray's statement but that he considered the affront on the office of mayor. As far as he was concerned personally he accepted the apology.

Alderman Macholdt Frees His Mind.
Alderman Macholdt of the Ninth ward, arose saying that he held in his hand a petition signed by 233 residents, against Sunday baseball. He dared say that 25 per cent of the names on it were signed to a petition he also had circulated when 356 had informed him they favored Sunday ball.

The present petition had been handed to a little six year old girl. Where it came from he had not the least idea as no one seemed to think it necessary to see that he got it but handed it to a child on the street.

His Ward Favored It.
Even saying there are 233 signers on this petition, said the alderman, it would give 590 voters in the ward who had expressed an opinion and of that number 356 are in favor of Sunday ball. Today the city of Kingston, we aldermen and our mayor are commercializing the Sabbath when we are advertising for bids for the concessions at Kingston Point Park which are allowed to run on Sunday.

"I like my pipe or cigar, but they are circulating a petition to take away our tobacco. By and by it will get so that we will all have to go up on Lindsay's hill and sit and watch the water flow up and down in the river. As far as religion is concerned I am just as good a man as any. I attend my church and I have a brother who is preaching the Gospel, but that don't make me any worse or any better, but I believe in a little recreation."

"A lot of you folks who are not in favor of Sunday baseball are Kingston jump in an auto on Sunday and go to Saugerties to see a game. Why? Because you don't want anyone in dear little Kingston to see you."

Everyone Has Right to Speak.
Alderman Schick, of the Third ward, said that as he looked at it the ministers and the women had a right to appear at a public hearing on any question without being insulted. They not only have a right to appear, but they also had a right to be heard the same as any other resident of the city.

Warren Apologizes.
Alderman Warren, of the First ward, in apologizing for the hoodlums element present, said that it was a regrettable incident that the ministers should have been greeted with hisses, but they should not forget that it was not the minister that the boys hissed but the ideas he represented. The boys knew that the minister was opposed to Sunday baseball and they simply hissed his ideas. These boys, said the alderman, were not accustomed to parliamentary rules, and there was some excuse for them when they gave way to their emotion.

Alderman Warren said he understood that in Poughkeepsie they opened a baseball game on Sunday with prayer by the clergy, which caused the Kingston clergy to snap in sheer unbelief.

In closing he said that he hoped the aldermen would on arrange it that the Sunday baseball question could be put directly up to the voters at the polls at the November election. He said it was better to be a timeless question as it was coming up all the while and it should be settled one way or another.

Approved as Commercial Ball.
Alderman Schick said that he was opposed to commercializing baseball. President Dittus then called for the vote with the result as given. A motion to adjourn was then in order, and unanimously carried. What was done previous to the baseball hearing will be found elsewhere.

Elmore V. Post, town of Esopus; challenged for cause by defendant.
Grant Brooks, Sundown; excused by defendant.

Oscar Schuttrick, New Paltz; excused by the People.
John E. Hull, city; excused by the People.

The remaining jurors not sitting on the Olsen case were excused until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

By agreement the jury on the case will not be kept together at night but will be allowed to return to their homes each evening until all of the evidence is in. Before adjourning court Tuesday evening Judge Fowler instructed the twelve men sitting on the case to refrain from discussing the case among themselves or with others and not to read of the case in the newspapers but keep their mind free to receive the evidence as it is presented to them by the several witnesses.

During the progress of the trial some startling testimony leading up to the shooting will probably be brought out by counsel for Olsen.

The case was again taken up this morning at 10 o'clock when court convened.

be the usual program of singing,
dancing, the awarding of the letters to the athletes and another added feature which will be sprung as a surprise that day.

The "Passion Play."

The Oberammergau "Passion Play,"
a dramatic representation of the sufferings of Christ, originated from a vow made by the inhabitants of the little Bavarian village in 1633, with the hope of staying a plague then raging. The original text probably was made by the monks of Eltal, but the parish priests have since carefully revised the text. The music was composed by Rochus Dedler in 1814. The play is given by amateurs in a purely reverential spirit, and not for gain.
It requires a cast of about 700 persons. In 1901 an $80,000 playhouse was erected especially for the play, which is given every ten years. The first performance was given in 1634.

New York, April 20.—Strength in the oil market featured a dull stock market opening today. Changes in other issues were mixed, but the general trend was to higher levels. Mexican Petroleum rose one point to 145½; California Petroleum 1½ to 47½ and Houston Oil 1½ to 52½. Pacific Oil, Cordon and Middle States Oil improved fractionally. Steel Common rose ¼ to 81½ but Crucible dropped ¼ to 78½. Pullman rose ½ to 102. The sugar stocks continued weak. American Sugar falling nearly one point to 87½. International Paper lost one point to 60½. The copper and railroad issues improved fractionally.

Price movements during the forenoon were irregular, some issues being under renewed pressure while further advances were made in others. Canadian Pacific sold off 1 point to 108½, a new low record since 1901. Atlantic Gulf was also weak falling two points to 35½. American Sugar dropped further to 86½, a net loss of 1½. Columbia Graphophone, Common, was in demand, the Common moving up ¾ to 4½ and the Preferred rose ½ to 45½.

After the reaction around mid-day the market again developed a strong tone and in the afternoon advances occurred in many issues. It was again a market of petroleum stocks. Mexican Petroleum sold up to 144½ and Invaluable Oil sold up to 21½. U. S. Steel was up ½ to 81½.

Gold Mining Now Prosaic.

There is scant romance in gold mining today, when natural science has taken the place of pioneerism and chance. There is none at all in the recently published statement of a San Francisco magnate who announced that his workmen and expert geologists had blocked out $6,000,000 worth of ore in one Arizona mountain in the last two years, and that excavation and the production of bullion would now begin.

Raising the Goat.

In some of the towns of Queensland goats are used for drawing water carts, in teams of four or sometimes eight. Goats are also bred and trained for racing in that Australian province, and a race meet where speedy billies and nannies are entered may always be counted on to draw a large crowd.

STORAGE COSTS AND COAL PRICES

Consumer's Bin the Cheapest Place For Storage and the Only One That Is Adequate—Saved Money Will Not Buy Coal When There Is None.

The average consumer of anthracite coal for heating and cooking purposes is very meagerly informed as to conditions affecting his ability to get coal when needed; and the correct price at which to buy. He takes for granted that the retail dealer is in business to supply him with coal to suit his convenience, without taking into consideration the limitations of the coal dealer's facilities to render this service.

The most important factor bearing on the available supply of coal is the storage space. It must be understood, in the first place, that the consumer's bin is the natural place to store coal. Any other provision, artificially provided, will increase the cost to the consumer. A ton of coal takes up considerable space, and no dealer has equipment large enough to hold on hand sufficient coal to pass out in place of coal when needed. The retailer's plant is merely a receiving station in which coal is transferred from bulk to quantities small enough to permit of delivery by team or auto truck.

It is obvious, therefore, that without orders from his trade, the retailer must stop buying coal when his storage is filled. He must lay off his men, and allow his delivery equipment to stand idle, at considerable expense.

Behind the retailers are the producing companies. Their operations are dependent on the ability of the retailer to furnish orders for coal. When the producing companies are forced to cease operation through lack of shipping instructions, the mines must shut down.

With production stopped at the mines a serious condition will have arisen. The effects will not be felt by the consumer until cold weather sets in, and he needs coal to heat his home. Immediately he besieges his retail dealer for coal, and the retail dealer has a supply of coal on hand limited by his storage capacity. If he were to fill orders indiscriminately as they came in, he would soon be out of coal, and those whom he could not serve would suffer. Should he distribute his coal on a pro rata basis, each customer would receive a little, but none would receive sufficient.

But when the retailer begins to spread his limited supply among his customers he realizes that some individuals should have more consideration than others—that is—those people who for various conditions beyond their control are always forced to buy in small quantities when cold weather comes. It would be only fair to take care of those consumers first. It must be understood, that it is a physical impossibility to produce sufficient coal to take care of the needs of this country unless the mines have sufficient orders to permit of production to full capacity during twelve months of the year. If they are to be shut down during the summer months when transportation conditions and facilities are most favorable, they surely cannot make up that shortage during the winter months when snow and storms slow up the movement of coal over the railroads. There is a limit to the amount of coal that can be mined during a day. This limit does not permit of increased production to meet an increased demand.

Today the coal trade finds a striking example of the situation outlined above. The retailer has about reached the limit of his storage capacity, and the consumer is in a fair way to see this whole story worked out from beginning to end. Just now, perhaps, it does not interest him, particularly, due in part to the extremely mild winter just past. He probably burned less coal last year than ever before, and it is possible that he has forgotten previous winters when he could get only enough coal from time to time to keep him going. Even last winter, with mild weather conditions, the retailer found difficulty in getting enough coal to meet the demands of his trade. As it would be unwise to count on another winter as mild as last, the country will need full production at the mines during these summer months.

The real cause of the consumer's disinclination to put a supply of coal in his cellar at this time is a feeling that the price of coal will be considerably lower later in the year. His belief is, no doubt, influenced by his desire, but there are certain concrete conditions on which the price of coal is based which would have to change before the price of coal could be reduced.

In the first place the mine operators have a wage agreement with the miners' union which does not expire until March 31st, 1922, so there is little hope in the decrease of labor costs. As labor is one of the greatest elements in the cost of production, coal cannot decrease materially in cost at the mines until this agreement with the miners expires.

In the period 1914 to 1920 coal did not soar to the heights of other commodities. While the peak of other commodities was up to 119¢, 187¢, 192¢, coal prices were up 95¢. Therefore, coal has not the same dizzy heights to fall from, as indicated in the case of other commodities.

Increases in freight rates have raised the price of coal, and even should there be a reduction in freights as is so much discussed at present, the reduction would probably not be as great as the recent advance. As a matter of fact there does not seem to be an immediate prospect of lowering these rates.

In comparing the price of coal with other commodities we must not lose sight of the fact that coal is sold in tons whereas almost all other commodities are sold in pounds. Translated into tons we find that a ton of milk would cost approximately $160. A family of five using two quarts of milk per day would pay about $115 a year for milk. Meat at 30¢ a pound would cost $600 a ton. Two pounds a day for a family of five would cost $219 a year. Sugar at 8¢ a pound would cost $160 a ton, put in candy form at 60¢ a pound would cost $1,200 a ton.

This country uses about 500,000,000 tons of hard and soft coal a year, at an approximate cost of $5,000,000,000 per year. According to figures compiled by Federal Commissioner of Education Claxton we spent in this country $1,500,000,000 for cosmetics, perfumes, furs, soft drinks and toilet soaps; $2,110,000,000 for cigars, cigarettes and snuff; $5,500,000,000 for jewelry, luxurious services, joy rides, pleasure resorts and races. When you consider that coal heats houses and cooks food for 110,000,000 people, provides power for transportation and manufacturing, and operates gas and electric plants, the country's yearly bill of $5,000,000,000 does not show an unfavorable comparison with the large sums spent for the above-mentioned luxuries.

If the consumer of anthracite coal so desires, he can save himself considerable discomfort and inconvenience by a careful consideration of these facts. He can do more to keep prices lower by taking coal during the summer months than he can by creating a shortage in the winter due to lack of production in the summer. A shortage of any commodity will increase its price, as a shortage invites competitive bidding and creates artificially high prices.

Leeds couldn't throw Wm. By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 20.—Ed. "Strangler" Leeds has a wholesome respect for at least one college wrestler today. The wrestler in question is C. J. (Chuck) Carpenter of Augusta, Ga., and Princeton University. Carpenter is the intercollegiate wrestling heavy weight champion. Leeds agreed to throw him in 20 minutes before the members of the International Sporting Club and failed.

CARPENTIER IS UNDER WEIGHT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, April 20.—Supporters of Georges Carpentier are alarmed over his appearance since he returned from a tour of Algeria and Spain.

The French champion is unusually pale, and he is under-weight and seems fatigued. His friends explain that sudden changes of climate and diet have been responsible for his condition and predict that he will regain his normal form when he starts training for Jack Dempsey.

Carpentier told International News Service today that he has not received any new details about the big fight but is sailing May 7 and will begin training immediately. "I assume everything is fixed for the July 2 date," he said. "My American representative is now locating quarters for my training. Will I win, sure I will."

AT THE THEATERS.

Enid Bennett at Keeney's-Arka. Stewart at Opera House.

Enid Bennett at Keeney's tonight in "Her Husband's Friend," a story written by Marjorie Benton Cooke, deals with a young wife who experiences all kinds of troubles with which neglected wives are familiar, and how she ultimately finds happiness makes too good a story to be told here. You must see the picture to realize how life-like the story is and how appealing it is to the women of Kingston. The Circus Imps, starring the Lee Kids, is also programmed. Thursday and Friday Charles Ray in "45 Minutes from Broadway."

Aula Stewart in "Harriet and the Piper," at the Opera House tonight, closes a most successful three days showing for this popular star. The story appeals to everyone and holds interest from end to end. The Larry Sweeney comedy, "The Sailor," proves a scream and laughter loud that it is heard of the street. Is the rule at the Opera House. Starting Thursday, William S. Hart in "The Test of a Reckless Romeo" is a comedy with a grip full of laughs.

"Mildred" is showing at the Auditorium tonight and judging from the praise this magnificent story at Keeney's yesterday it is one of the most likable pictures ever shown at this popular theater. Tomorrow Eddie Polo in "The King of the Circus."

The harmony of the Stellar Quartet is seldom equalled, to which you will agree after hearing them in the High School Auditorium Friday evening. The entertainment has been arranged by the High School Athletic Association which should receive hearty support. All the boys are working hard to make this entertainment a success. Let's help them with our presence. Columbia Shop, 273 Fair street.—Advertisement.

ing then that it was the most important road in Ulster county. Later a map was amended and Palenville road adopted. The improvement of the entire Sawkill road should be recommended. He knew that road and its conditions better than most people as he rode horseback over it, which was the only safe way to travel over it. He said there was a great desire for properties there. If improvement was made it would be a great benefit to the city and Woodstock. The only way westerly is from Kingston bridge to Zena. There is just one main highway leading to the Ashokan reservoir boulevard and the Catskills and that is the West Hurley road, and if repairs are made during the summer and the road shut off there is no way to reach the district beyond except over the Sawkill road, or by going through Marlinton or Saugerties. Traffic through Kingston will thus be diverted and tourists will stop over night at Newburgh or other places instead of in Kingston. Should this happen you cannot say your attention was not called to it.

County Judge Fowler said as president of the Chamber of Commerce he urged that improvement to the Sawkill road be recommended. The Chamber of Commerce about a year ago went on record as in favor of improving that road, and found on investigation the members were still in that same frame of mind. Am not objecting to improvement of any other road, but certainly did favor improving the Sawkill road. It is in a deplorable condition. He appealed that the board put through the improvement of the Sawkill road.

Louis S. Coe, president of the village of Stamford, and manager of the Catskill-Shawangunk Mountain Association, said it was very poor policy to have only one road to the Catskills. There should be one road available to detour over should the New York boulevard be closed. With the building of the bridge over the Rondout creek and the Storm King road Kingston will have many people coming, and a parallel road should be constructed.

Supervisor Young said as one of the committee he would raise the point that the resolution of Supervisor Charlton was out of order. No one of the committee had any objection to the building of any road. The committee had to follow the provisions of the highway law. There was no money appropriated by the town of Ulster for improving the Sawkill road, and the town did not have the necessary equipment according to the highway law, and committee took that into consideration. The law says that 25 percent must be provided, hence $1,000, which the committee understood was not done. The town of Ulster has provided the 25 percent of its cost of construction of the road from Marx hotel, the road suggested by the town board of that town, but the town board did not take any part in the construction of the Sawkill road.
